FLOOR DEBATE

March 20, 2002 LB 1309

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, in addition to what Senator Bruning talked about, that ignorant man called Foley is in favor of a priest, a bishop. If he calls me vile, I can call him ignorant and anything else I want to. He is the one vile because he supports child molesters and he supports those who protects them. Do you see how that game can be played? He thinks because he is a flunkie for the church that he can come here and do the name calling. He said he stands by his comment that I'm vile, bigoted and hate filled because I'm attacking the child molestation. Well, when somebody strikes close to your home, I guess you do get upset. Now I don't know what Senator Foley's predilections are, but when he defends these wrongdoing priests and thinks that nobody has a right to talk about it, then he's in the wrong business if he thinks his effeminate little criticisms of me are going to cause me to be quiet or take low. He said my comments are not unexpected. Well, his are not unexpected by me either because I know why he came here. I know what he is about, but I'm having serious doubts now about what he told me when he denied having a part to play in that scurrilous lying editorial in the paper of his archbishop, Bruskewitz. Then let Senator Foley continue his defense. And if he is going to defend that kind of action, his views and his morals certainly are different from mine. I do not say because a man wears a Roman collar that he can commit sexual child abuse and be exempt from criticism, or because a man wears a little red beanie on the back of his head and gowns, and has shielded and tried to cover up the child abuse of a priest, and the World-Herald documented it, that that man can't be criticized, then I don't know what's the matter with Senator Foley. I don't know what planet he came from. And because he understands words so poorly, I'd much rather him criticize me than approve of me because I know the kind of
